CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

In presenting this, the Twenty-third Annual Report, it appears necessary to provide it with a certain amount of explanation.

Primarily, the purpose of the statistics is to show hours of labor and wages, conditions of labor, and to give an idea of what progress is being made in an educational and moral way, whether there is an improvement in general proficiency, and the relation of supply to demand.

In some quarters to which the report is sent, these purposes are overlooked, the recipients expecting rather a directory of manufacturing enterprises. Under the peculiar conditions of the law governing the Department and the manner of collection of statistics, it has proved impossible, excepting cotton, woolen and silk mills, to secure a complete list of the factories. The only possible way to secure the miscellaneous factories would be by a detailed census campaign, and while this would no doubt be of service to those parties looking for a directory, it is hardly probable that it would materially change the conclusions reached. However, in so far as the means at hand have allowed, it has been the purpose to include every factory, of whatever kind, employing five or more people, that it was possible to reach.

It is highly gratifying to note that the disinclination to report, as noted in former years, has almost entirely disappeared, though there are still quite a good many of the factories who, while not refusing, neglect to fill out and return the blanks sent by mail. Where this has been the case, as far as possible, and so far as time would permit, the Commissioner or the Assistant Commissioner has visited the factories and secured the information asked for in the blanks. As has been stated above, it is an impossibility to make a complete list of the factories, some of them having commenced or gone out of business during the interval between the time of the investigations and the time of issuing the report, and some of the factories whose names appear on the record have failed to report. In the appendix will be found a list of all factories on our list, including both those that have and have not reported, alphabetized and classified.

In the appendix will also be found the so-called labor laws. The interpretations of these laws are only found in the Supreme Court Reports, and it is manifestly impracticable to give these.

There are no laws at present governing factory inspection, nor any laws touching child labor other than the chapter given, nor is it at all likely that any change will be effective until sometime during the year 1911.

It had been the purpose to include in this report comparative statistics of organized and unorganized labor, but it has been found that this was impracticable on account of the difficulty of securing the organized labor reports. It is hoped that sufficient data can be secured for the next report to make this comparison. Whatever information we have concerning organized labor will be found following the Trades table.

Inquiries bearing upon the questions covered in the report are invited, and will be given prompt and careful attention.

We take this opportunity to acknowledge the assistance of the manufacturers called upon, who have aided us in many ways.

CHAPTER II.

FARMS AND FARM LABOR.

SUMMARY.

The deductions apparent in the face of the figures in the tables, while representing the answers to questions, are misleading to a certain extent in some instances. There has been "no increase of wages" reported, yet many of the hands that were formerly employed at the minimum wage are now receiving the maximum figure, or some figure between the minimum and the maximum, and while the average wage would figure the same, the facts are that the mean figure does not represent average wages. It is probable that wages are 20 per cent higher than this point. There is strong evidence of a greater improvement in general proficiency, brought about primarily by the schools, which appear to have an influence wider than the circle including the children who attend, and secondarily by the example furnished where one or more influential farmers have shown what results could be accomplished under the proper handling of fertilization and cultivation. Increase in the price of land, increasing also rents on given areas, has been responsible for a more intensive cultivation, and while supplies that farmers have to buy have steadily advanced in cost, the farmers as a class have steadily reduced the number and amount of these articles to be bought. A gratifying breadth of vision is noticeable among the farmers generally, and few farms are now found where there is not some phase of the farm life of especial pride, either in increase of yield and improvement of soil, or in some thoroughbred or standard-bred stock. Attention is also being given seed selection, and we take this opportunity to notice in passing, the work of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture. Where the bulletins of this Department are being received, a noticeable amount of thought is being given to farming, and cultivation of the soil is now recognized as one of the money-making avocations instead of one of the last resorts as a means to live.

Following will be found the conclusions as shown by the figures given in the answer to questions sent out from this office. To those who have so considerably given us this information we desire to acknowledge our indebtedness.

Table No. 1 shows an increase in the value of land in eighty-seven counties, decrease in two and no change in nine. Fertility of land is reported maintained in eighty-four counties; fourteen report that it is not maintained. Six counties report a tendency to have larger farms; ninety-two smaller. Eighty-six counties report labor scarce; twelve plentiful. Ninety-five counties report negro labor unreliable; two reliable, and one, no negro labor. Sixty counties report employment regular; thirty-eight irregular. Every county reports an increase in cost of living.

In Table No. 2 eighty-six counties report that there is change towards diversification of crops; eight no change and four do not answer the question. Ninety-six counties report improvement in method of cultivation of crops and four do not answer the question.

Highest average wages paid men, $24.11, an increase of $1.50 per month over last year; lowest, $14.79, an increase of $1.39 per month over last year. Highest average wages paid women, $14.76, an increase of $1.04 per month over last year; lowest, $9.49, an increase of 72 cents per month over last year. Average wages of children, $8.44, a decrease of seven cents per month over last year. Twenty report financial condition of working people good, forty-two fair, thirty poor, three bad, and three do not answer question. Seventy-one counties report improvement; twenty-four no improvement, and three do not answer question.

Table No. 3 shows that sixty-eight counties produce cotton at $33.82 per bale of 500 pounds; thirty counties do not report. Seventy-seven counties produce wheat at a cost of seventy-seven cents per bushel; twenty-one counties do not report wheat. Ninety-seven counties produce corn at a cost of fifty-three cents per bushel and one county does not report corn. Ninety-two counties produce oats at thirty-eight cents per bushel; six counties do not report oats. Fifty-one counties produce tobacco at $7.71 per 100 pounds; forty-seven counties do not report. Sixteen counties report increase in wages, six counties a decrease and seventy-six counties report no change.

Table No. 4 shows road, education, religious and moral conditions. Ninety-three counties favor road improvement by taxation. One county does not favor such road improvement, and four do not answer the question.

CHAPTER III.

THE TRADES.

In addition to the specific information asked for in the blanks sent out, the Department has taken a general survey of the conditions under which the Trades, or, more properly speaking, the body of working men and women, are now laboring. The conclusions reached, based on the answers to inquiries which appear in one form or another on all blanks, save one, sent out from this office, relate to phases of the question that cannot be answered comprehensively by yes or no, or by any figures. A certain amount of the losses in quantity of work offered and prices paid for service which occurred in the latter part of 1907 and 1908 have been regained, and while employment is by no means so easily found, and it may be that wages are slightly less than in the floodtide of 1907, on the whole, conditions affecting the trades may be said to be in a shape fully as satisfactory as at any time in the industrial history of the State.

During the season of depression above referred to the less well-qualified members of the various trades were forced out, and found their places in other spheres, possibly returning to the situations from which they had been drawn by the unusual demand for workmen more or less skilled, and have become established in their original occupations. Of course, some of the ones that had entered into the trades, having developed the necessary qualifications, were not forced out with the reaction. When conditions improved those working men still remaining in any given occupation represented a type of higher average ability than was represented in the trade in the first instance, and these were able to at once command wages in keeping with the character of service rendered.

It is true that there is not sufficient employment for all labor, but it is also true that there is not sufficient of certain kinds of labor to meet demand. The progress of the period calls for a better class of labor, and this demand has a stimulating effect on the production of the supply needed.

Following will be found the conclusions reached from the direct answers to questions to wage-earners themselves, and represent individual reports. The conclusions concerning wages and wage-earners given in the factory tables are from the factories and represent collective reports.

UNION LABOR.

As was stated in the introductory, information relating to unions and union labor could not be secured sufficiently extensive to justify a tabulated report, in time for this number of the report. The organizations reporting furnish data for the following deductions:

Trades that have organizations in North Carolina are: Barbers, Bookbinders, Bricklayers, Carpenters and Joiners, Clerks, Lathers, Moulders, Plasterers, Plumbers, Printers, Pressmen, Sheet Metal Workers. Average number of hours worked, 8.9. Average wages per day, $2.975. Per cent of members read and write, 99.8. Seventy per cent of the unions report sick benefit; 10 per cent no sick benefit; 20 per cent do not report. Ninety per cent report death benefit; 10 per cent report no death benefit. Ninety per cent of unions report that 62.5 per cent of persons employed in trades covered belong to union; 10 per cent do not report. The terms of apprenticeship are given as 2 to 4 years; average term of apprenticeship, 3.3 years.

CHAPTER IV.

MISCELLANEOUS FACTORIES.

In the following tables of miscellaneous factories we have used only those factories concerning which it has been possible to secure certain information. Other factories on the list are not used in the compilation of figures owing to deficiency of reports sent in, or on account of not having filed reports.

General indications show that the factories are rapidly being put on a substantial basis—that is, show an absence of mushroom growth, or what is commonly known as “schemes.” Few new factories are reported, but, on the whole, conditions may be said to represent a stable progress, sufficiently rapid to show growth, but at the same time at a rate that would seem to indicate only the meeting of a demand that may reasonably be expected to be permanent. So far as the information at hand shows, there have been no enlargements to meet temporary calls for manufactured articles, nor is it apparent that an overproduction has resulted in any case, the factories rather proceeding along the line of making, with a comfortable margin, the goods necessary to meet market demand.

In Table No. 1 it will be noted that there has been added a more extended account of the articles manufactured, and a column showing the estimated value of plant. The names of secretaries or treasurers have been added, and distinguished from the name of the president, instead of running, as heretofore, a column showing name of president, secretary or treasurer. Under each county the post office and under each post office the names of the factories have been alphabetized.

In Table No. 3 a column has been added for the question, “Is Improvement shown in general proficiency?” which speaks for itself. The two last columns of this table, “Is product sold direct? Wholesale or to consumer?” are also added, for general information.

Aggregate capital reported by 596 factories, $34,956,344. Seventy-nine factories do not report capital stock.

Six hundred and fifty-one factories report power used as follows: Steam, 434; electric, 111; water, 26; hand, 24; gasoline, 23; steam and electric, 16; steam and water, 5; gasoline and electric, 2; gas, 1; steam, electric and hydraulic, 1; coal, 1; steam and gas, or gasoline, 7. These establishments, exclusive of twenty-four using hand power, show the employment of 152,747 horsepower. Five hundred and twenty-five factories report (estimated) 86,538 persons dependent upon the factory's operation for a livelihood. Four hundred and twenty-nine factories report ten hours constitute a day's work; eighty-three factories twelve hours; forty-seven, eleven hours; twenty-three, nine hours; ten, ten and a half hours; five, eight hours; five, nine and a half hours; two, ten and a fourth hours; one, ten and three-quarter hours; twenty-five do not report.

Twenty-four and six-tenths per cent report increase of wages; sixty-four and seven-tenths per cent report no change; five and six-tenths per cent report decrease; five and five-tenths per cent do not report. Sixty-seven and six-tenths per cent pay wages weekly; twenty-one and two-tenths pay semi-monthly; nine and seven-tenths per cent pay monthly; six-tenths of one per cent pay daily; nine-tenths of one per cent do not answer this question.

Six hundred and forty-six factories report 31,563 persons employed. This number is made up of 26,234 males, 3,974 females, 1,355 children. Highest average wages per day: Males, $2.385; females, $1.42. Lowest average wages: Males, 97 cents; females, 77 cents. Eighty-four per cent of adult employees read and write; eighty-eight per cent of children. Forty-two per cent report improvement in financial condition of employees; thirty-one per cent report no improvement; twenty-seven per cent do not answer.

Forty-one per cent report improvement in general proficiency of employees; twenty-six per cent no improvement; thirty-three per cent do not report. Fifty-five per cent report labor plentiful; ten per cent not plentiful; thirty-five per cent do not report.

Seventy-four per cent of the establishments do not employ union labor; four per cent employ both union and non-union; four per cent employ union, and eighteen per cent do not answer question.

In the appendix we have made a list of the factories, classified and alphabetized, which it is hoped will be of benefit to parties who are looking for a specific article or a certain factory. In no sense is this list offered as a directory—the purpose is not to offer a directory, but a résumé of conditions of the laborers and of the trades. If there is information of a general character desired, and parties desiring same will address this office, pleasure will be taken in the furnishing of anything that may be properly classified under the heads that this department may be supposed to cover. Our main purpose is to benefit, or be of service to, the manufacturers or wage-laborers, and inquiries are invited on questions which may fairly be assumed to be in our line.

In the following tables will be found the detailed information from which these conclusions have been drawn.

CHAPTER V.

COTTON MILLS.

The same conditions that apply to the miscellaneous factories in the State may be said to be representative of the cotton, woolen, silk and knitting mills. There are a few peculiar difficulties, however, which apply especially to this class of manufactories, some of which it is possible to remove, and others, the practicability of the removal of which is more or less a difficult problem—and whose removal will require an influence wider than the State alone can wield.

Those manufacturers with whom the representatives of this Department have discussed the labor and child-labor questions have expressed themselves as being desirous of obeying, and even of participating in the enforcement of, reasonable laws and restrictions. The age limit, as set out in the present law, is generally satisfactory, and the prevailing sentiment among mill men is for its rigid enforcement, to eliminate the possibility of unscrupulous manufacturers violating it to the disadvantage of the conscientious employer. Child labor, as a general proposition, is said to be not profitable, but at times necessary to the keeping of parent labor that is profitable.

Another proposition is the baling and baling material. The wastefulness and insufficiency of the present method is so apparent as to need nothing more than mention here. From the farmer's standpoint it results in direct loss in value, and from the manufacturer's standpoint it results in great loss in quality after purchase, simply from agencies that have commenced to get in their derogatory processes before the bale comes to the mill or to the warehouse. A coarse cotton cover, in the nature of a heavy sail-cloth, would go a long way toward protecting the staple, which is now treated as if its earliest destruction were the end sought.

Compresses at gins are badly needed, to the end that inflammability may be reduced, as well as a saving made in freight rates. This would also result in a much more expeditious handling.

A fluctuating market is no doubt the greatest difficulty with which the manufacturers have to contend. The immediate result of the advance in the price of cotton in the latter part of this year has been the curtailment of production by as many of the mills as were not sold ahead. If speculation could be eliminated, the variation in price caused by supply and demand could probably be handled; but until this is done there will be losses and depressions in the legitimate field, for which it is in no way responsible, and for which it ought not to have to stand.

The industry represents by far the largest investment of capital in a single line in the State, and leads in the number of employes and volume of wages paid.

The tables following furnish the figures for these deductions:

The 312 cotton, woolen and silk mills reporting show an authorized capital of $51,083,550, and the employment of 3,143,511 spindles, 55,692 looms and 130,355 horse-power. The total number of employes reported is 55,129. Thirty-one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one are males; 23,358 are females. The estimated number of persons dependent on these mills and on the 55,129 employes for a livelihood is 154,352.

Sixty-six per cent of the mills report that there is an improvement in general proficiency of operatives; seven per cent report no improvement; twenty-seven per cent do not answer. Sixty-five per cent report improvement in financial condition of employes; thirteen per cent report no improvement; twenty-two per cent do not answer. Seventy per cent report improvement in educational lines; six per cent no improvement; twenty-four per cent do not answer. Eighty-nine per cent of answers indicate that labor laws are complied with; seven-tenths of one per cent that they are not; ten and three-tenths per cent do not answer. Per cent of operatives who read and write is given as eighty-four.

The high average wages for males is $2.54; low average, 67 cents. The high average for females is $1.29; low average, 58 cents.

One hundred and sixty-seven mills pay wages weekly; 108 pay twice a month; twelve pay monthly; one pays tri-monthly; four mills do not give this information.

The average number of hours constituting a day's work is 10.69.

One hundred and eighteen of the 312 mills use steam as motive power; eighty-one use electricity; forty-two steam and water; thirty-four water; twenty-three electric and steam; four steam, electric and water; one gas; three do not report.

KNITTING MILLS.

Sixty-three knitting mills are reported for 1909, and show a capital stock of $2,853,040. The number of spindles in use in these mills is given as 74,440; knitting machines, 6,343; sewing machines, 613; making use of 5,714 horse-power.

Forty-seven mills use steam for power; eight use electricity; five use gasoline; one each use electric and steam, water, steam and water.

Number of employes reported is 6,867; 2,155 males and 4,712 females; 17,072 persons are dependent on the operation of these mills for a livelihood.

Wages are as follows: High average, males, $2.17; low average, males, 66 cents; high average, females, $1.43; low average, females, 50 cents.

Employes of twenty-three mills are paid weekly; of thirty-one mills semi-monthly; of two monthly; two mills do not answer.

One mill works 11½ hours per day; eleven mills work 11 hours; five mills work 10½ hours; thirty-nine mills work 10 hours; one mill works 9½ hours; one mill works 9 hours.

Fifty-one per cent of mills report no change in wages; forty per cent report wages increased; nine per cent do not answer this question. Sixty-five per cent of mills report financial condition of employes improved; sixteen per cent report that it is not improved; nineteen per cent do not answer.

General proficiency is reported improved from seventy-five per cent of the mills; from eleven per cent that it has not improved; fourteen per cent do not report.

CHAPTER VI.

FURNITURE FACTORIES.

The furniture manufacturing interests represent a quiet, but at the same time an important and substantial industry in the industrial life of the State. While the supply of raw material is by no means acutely short, great inroads are being made on the timber lands that furnish this material, and it is a source of regret that, apparently, no steps are being taken to preserve or provide a supply for use after the present supply has been exhausted. It is estimated that less than thirty per cent of the actual timber felled for the purpose finds its way into the finished product, which allows for something like seventy per cent of waste between the timber standing and the finished article. The laps and limbs of trees are, in most cases, left to rot, while new trees, which would within a few years furnish a good quality of lumber, are cut for cordwood. The tendency toward shortness of raw material is well illustrated by the fact that standing timber on some lands now brings more than the land itself could have been and was bought for, six or seven years ago.

There are ninety-eight factories reporting, with an aggregate capital of $3,475,600, using 10,157 horse-power.

There are reported 6,271 employes. The highest average daily wage is $2.40, an increase of 8 cents over last year; lowest average wage, 91 cents, an increase of 1 cent over last year. Ninety per cent of employes read and write. Twenty-six factories pay wages weekly, sixty-eight semi-monthly, and four monthly. Twenty-eight per cent report increase in wages, sixty-one per cent no change, while only one per cent reports decrease. Estimated number dependent on operation of these factories for a livelihood, 15,954. Five factories work 9 hours per day; ninety-two work 10 hours; one works 11 hours. Eighty-five factories use steam for power; four electric; three hand; two steam and electric; one steam and water; three do not give motive power.

APPENDIX.

A number of requests for information from recipients of former issues of the Report of this Department, touching practically the same questions, has led to the belief that the following pages would meet a need, and for that reason we have added such general information as would seem to bear on the subjects covered by the reports.

We are indebted to the Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce and Labor of the United States for the table showing number of cotton-consuming establishments, number of spindles, quantity of cotton consumed, and stocks held by manufacturers on August 31, for the years from 1906 to 1909, inclusive; and for the table showing production, consumption, exports and imports of cotton for the United States from 1790 to 1908.

The letters from the different classes of manufacturers, from farmers and mechanics, have been omitted in this report, such letters having served the purpose for which they were instituted, namely, to ascertain the ideas of the persons mostly concerned as to the advisability of compulsory education and the proper age at which children should be allowed to work.

Without expressing an opinion as to the proper age at and the conditions under which minors should be allowed to work, or as to the progress of the compulsory education question, movements to the end sought by friends of both these questions are taking place as rapidly as seems consistent with a sound understanding and acceptance of the terms.

Special school-tax districts and special road-tax districts are being created, which bid fair to supply much needed improvements and extensions of the former, and to reduce greatly the cost of transportation as applied to the latter. The consensus of opinion as to labor expressed in the letters received this year would seem to bear out the assertion that good labor is getting better by reason of breadth and better understanding, while labor that has been in the past unreliable is even less to be depended on than ever before. A means of removing the bad effect of the presence of this labor is one of the wants expressed by our correspondents, none of the plans heretofore tried having proved effective.

Road improvements are badly needed, is another opinion expressed by these correspondents. It is difficult, at the present time, to bring into harmony the views expressed as to how these are to be secured.

It is the purpose of this Department to issue its Report for 1910 during the latter part of 1910, instead of carrying it over into the next year, as has been the custom in the past. The figures apply to conditions for the year coinciding with the date of the Report, and accordingly it will be issued in that year hereafter. This Report applies to the year 1909, and while several weeks earlier than former reports, is still later than it is proposed to issue the 1910 edition.

LABOR LAWS OF NORTH CAROLINA.

[REVISAL OF 1905.]

WAGES AS PREFERRED CLAIMS—IN ADMINISTRATION.

SECTION 87. The debts of the decedent must be paid in the following order:

First class. Debts which by law have a specific lien on property to an amount not exceeding the value of such property.

Second class. Funeral expenses.

Third class. Taxes assessed on the estate of the deceased previous to his death.

Fourth class. Dues to the United States and to the State of North Carolina.

Fifth class. Judgments of any court of competent jurisdiction within this State, docketed and in force, to the extent to which they are a lien on the property of the deceased at his death.

Sixth class. Wages due to any domestic servant or mechanical or agricultural laborer employed by the deceased, which claim for wages shall not extend to a period of more than one year next preceding the death; or if such servant or laborer was employed for the year current at the decease, then from the time of such employment; for medical services within the twelve months preceding the decease.

Seventh class. All other debts and demands.

JUDGMENTS FOR WAGES—NO PROPERTY EXEMPT.

SECTION 685.

* * * * *

The property, real and personal, specified in the third subdivision of this section, and the homestead of any resident of this State shall not be subject to sale under execution or other process thereon, except such as may be rendered or issued to secure the payment * * * for work done and performed for the claimant of said homestead, * * *

WAGES PREFERRED—IN INSOLVENCY OF CORPORATIONS.

SECTION 1206. In case of the insolvency of any corporation the laborers and workmen and all persons doing labor or service of whatever character in the regular employment of such corporation, shall have a first and prior lien upon the assets thereof for the amount of wages due to them respectively for all labor, work, and services done, performed or rendered within two months next preceding the date when proceedings in insolvency shall be actually instituted and begun against such insolvent corporation, which lien shall be prior to all other liens that can or may be acquired upon or against such assets.

STEVEDORES TO BE LICENSED—BONDS FOR PROTECTION OF WAGES.

SECTION 2050. No person shall engage in the business of loading or unloading vessels upon contract, nor shall any person solicit or make any contract for himself or for any other person to load or unload any vessel either by day's work or by the job, without having previously obtained a license therefor, in the manner provided by law for other license for trades and occupations. * * *

SEC. 2051. Before the sheriff shall issue the said license the applicant shall pay to the sheriff an annual tax of fifty dollars, and shall execute a bond with two or more approved sureties in the sum of two thousand dollars, payable to the State of North Carolina, and conditioned for the faithful performance of his duties and the due and lawful payment of all sums due to laborers assisting in the work of loading or unloading any vessel upon which the applicant may be engaged. And every bond so taken shall be renewed annually, and shall be filed with and preserved by the register of deeds in trust for every person that shall be injured by the breach of his contracts, who may severally bring suit thereon for the damages by each one sustained.

EMPLOYES ON OYSTER BOATS.

SECTION 2408. No person shall be licensed to catch oysters from the public grounds of the State who is owner, lessee, master, captain, mate or foreman, or who owns an interest in or who is an agent for any boat that is used or that may be used in dredging oysters from the public grounds of the State, who is not a bona fide resident of this State and who has not continuously resided therein for two years next preceding the date of his application for license, and no nonresident shall be employed as a laborer on any boat licensed to dredge oysters under this subchapter who has an interest in or who receives any profit from the oysters caught by any boat permitted to dredge oysters on the public grounds of the State. Any person, firm or corporation employing any nonresident laborer forbidden by this section, upon conviction shall be fined not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

LIABILITY OF RAILROAD COMPANIES FOR INJURIES TO EMPLOYEES.

SECTION 2646. Any servant or employe of any railroad company operating in this State who shall suffer injury to his person, or the personal representative of any such servant or employe who shall have suffered death in the course of his services or employment with such company by the negligence, carelessness or incompetence of any other servant, employe or agent of the company, or by any defect in the machinery, ways or appliances of the company, shall be entitled to maintain an action against such company. Any contract or agreement, expressed or implied, made by any employe of such company to waive the benefit of this section shall be null and void.

This law, where it applies, has the effect of making all coemployes of railroad companies agents and principals of the company so far as fixing its liability for their neglect is concerned. 54 S. E. Rep., 391.

Within the limits set by this statute the defense of assumption of risks is abrogated. 52 S. E. Rep., 129.

It applies to logging roads. 54 S. E. Rep., 795.

SUNDAY LABOR.

SECTION 2836. On the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday, no tradesman, artificer, planter, laborer, or other person, shall, upon land or water, do or exercise any labor, business or work, of his ordinary calling, works of necessity and charity alone excepted, nor employ himself in hunting, fishing or fowling, nor use any game, sport or play, upon pain that every person so offending, being of the age of fourteen years and upwards, shall forfeit and pay one dollar.

EMPLOYMENT OF CHILDREN.

SECTION 3362. If any mill owner, superintendent or other person acting in behalf of a factory or manufacturing establishment shall knowingly and willfully employ any child under twelve years of age to work in any factory or manufacturing establishment, except in oyster canning and packing manufactories where said canning and packing manufactories pay for opening or shucking oysters by the gallon or bushel, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Employment of minors in violation of this section is negligence, which, if followed by injury, gives a cause of action. 53 S. E. Rep., 891.

Illegal employment is negligence per se, and not merely evidence of negligence. The statute is constitutional. 61 S. E. Rep., 525.

SEC. 3363. If any mill owner, superintendent, or other person acting in behalf of a factory or manufacturing establishment shall knowingly and willfully require any person under eighteen years of age, except engineers, firemen, machinists, superintendents, overseers, section and yard hands, office men, watchmen or repairers of breakdowns, to work in such factories or establishments a longer period than sixty-six hours in one week, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 3364. If any parent or person standing in the relation of parent, upon hiring his children to any factory or manufacturing establishment, shall fail to furnish such establishment a written statement of the age of such child or children being so hired, and if any such parent, or person standing in the relation of parent to such child or children, shall in such written statement misstate the age of such child or children being so employed, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished at the discretion of the court.

INTERFERENCE WITH EMPLOYMENT—ENTICING EMPLOYEES.

SECTION 3365. If any person shall entice, persuade and procure any servant by indenture, or any servant who shall have contracted in writing or orally to serve his employer, to unlawfully leave the service of his master or employer; or if any person shall knowingly and unlawfully harbor and detain, in his own service and from the service of his master, or employer, any servant who shall unlawfully leave the service of such master, or employer, then, in either case, such person and servant shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not exceeding one hundred dollars or imprisoned not exceeding six months.

SEC. 3374 (as amended by chapter 402, Acts of 1907). If any person shall knowingly hire, employ, harbor or detain in his own service any servant, employe, or wage hand of any other person, who shall have contracted in writing, or orally, for a fixed period of time to serve his employer, and who shall have left the service of his employer in violation of his contract, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be civilly liable in damages to the party so aggrieved. This section shall apply to the following counties: Beaufort, Edgecombe, Person, Pitt, Washington, Warren, Vance, Pender, Halifax, Guilford, Granville, Hertford, Wayne, Wake and Caswell.

PROTECTION OF EMPLOYEES AS VOTERS.

SECTION 3387. If any person shall discharge from employment, * * * any qualified voter of this State because of the vote such voter may or may not have cast in any election, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

He shall also make a full report to the Governor, as other State officers are required to do, embodying therein such recommendations as he may deem calculated to promote the efficiency of his department.

MINE REGULATIONS.

SECTION 4931. No minor under twelve years of age shall be allowed to work in any mine, and in all cases of minors applying for work the agent of such mine shall see that the provisions of this section are not violated; and the inspector may, when doubt exists as to the age of any person found working in any mine, examine under oath such person and his parents, or other witnesses, as to his age.

SEC. 4932. The owner, agent or operator of every coal mine shall keep a supply of timber constantly on hand, and shall deliver the same to the working place of the miner, and no miner shall be held responsible for accident which may occur in the mine where the provisions of this section have not been complied with by the owner, agent or operator thereof, resulting directly or indirectly from the failure to deliver such timber.

SEC. 4933. All underground entrances to any place not in actual course of working or extension shall be properly fenced across the whole width of such entrance so as to prevent persons from inadvertently entering the same.

SEC. 4934. No owner or agent of any coal mine worked by shaft shall permit any person to work therein unless there are, to every seam of coal worked in such mine, at least two separate outlets, separated by natural strata of not less than one hundred feet in breadth, by which shafts or outlets distinct means of ingress and egress are always available to the persons employed in the mine; but it is not necessary for the two outlets to belong to the same mine if the persons employed therein have safe, ready and available means of ingress or egress by not less than two openings. This section shall not apply to opening a new mine while being worked for the purpose of making communications between said two outlets, so long as not more than twenty persons are employed at one time in such mine; neither shall it apply to any mine or part of a mine in which the second outlet has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing of pillars previous to abandonment, as long as not more than twenty persons are employed therein at any one time. The cage or cages and other means of egress shall at all times be available for the persons employed when there is no second outlet. The escapement shafts shall be fitted with safe and available appliances, which shall always be kept in a safe condition, by which the persons employed in the mine may readily escape in case an accident occurs; and in no case shall an air shaft with a ventilating furnace at the bottom be construed to be an escapement shaft within the meaning of this section. To all other coal mines, whether slopes or drifts, two such openings or outlets must be provided within twelve months after shipments of coal have commenced from such mine; and in case such outlets are not provided as herein stipulated, it shall not be lawful for the agent or owner of such slope or drift to permit more than ten persons to work therein at any one time.

SEC. 4935. No owner or agent of any mine operated by a shaft or slope shall place in charge of any engine used for lowering into or hoisting out of mines persons employed therein any but experienced, competent and sober engineers, and no engineer in charge of such engine shall allow any person except such as may be deputed for such purposes by the owner or agent to interfere with it or any part of the machinery, and no person shall interfere or in any way intimidate the engineer in the discharge of his duties, and in no case shall more than two men ride on any cage or car at one time, and no person shall ride upon a loaded cage or car in any shaft or slope.

SEC. 4936. The owner or agent of any coal mine, whether shaft, slope or drift, shall provide and maintain for every such mine an amount of ventilation of not less than one hundred cubic feet per minute per person employed in such mine, which shall be circulated and distributed throughout the mine in such a manner as to dilute, render harmless and expel the poisonous and noxious gases from each and every working place in the mine, and no working place shall be driven more than sixty feet in advance of a break through or airway, and all break throughs or airways, except those last made near the working places of the mine, shall be closed up by brattice trap-doors, or otherwise, so that the currents of air in circulation in the mine may spread to the interior of the mine when the persons employed in such mine are at work, and all mines governed by this chapter shall be provided with artificial means of producing ventilation, such as forcing or suction fans, exhaust steam furnaces, or other contrivances of such capacity and power as to produce and maintain an abundant supply of air, and all mines generating fire damp shall be kept free from standing gas.

SEC. 4937. Every working place shall be examined every morning with a safety lamp by a competent person before any of the workmen are allowed to enter the mine.

All safety lamps used in examining mines, or for working therein, shall be the property of the operator of the mine, and a competent person shall be appointed, who shall examine every safety lamp before it is taken into the workings for use, and ascertain it to be clean, safe and securely locked, and safety lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found safe and clean and securely locked, unless permission be first given by the mine foreman to have the lamps used unlocked. No one except the duly authorized person shall have in his possession a key or any other contrivance for the purpose of unlocking any safety lamp in any mine where locked lamps are used. No matches or any other apparatus for striking lights shall be taken into any mines, or parts thereof, except under the direction of the mine foreman.

SEC. 4938. The mine foreman shall measure the ventilation at least once a week, at the inlet and outlet, and also at or near the face of all the entries, and the measurement of air so made shall be noted on blanks furnished by the inspector; and on the first day of each month the mine boss of each mine shall sign one of such blanks, properly filled with the said actual measurement, and present the same to the inspector.

SEC. 4939. The owner, agent or manager of any mine shall give notice to the inspector in the following cases: 1. When any working is commenced for the purpose of opening a new shaft, slope or mine to which this chapter applies. 2. When any mine is abandoned, or the working thereof discontinued. 3. When the working of any mine is recommended after an abandonment or discontinuance for a period exceeding three months. 4. When a squeeze or crush, or any other cause or change may seem to affect the safety of persons employed in the mine, or when fire occurs.

SEC. 4940. The owner, agent or manager of every mine shall, within twenty-four hours next after any accident or explosion, whereby loss of life or personal injury may have been occasioned, send notice, in writing, by mail or otherwise, to the inspector, and shall specify in such notice the character and cause of the accident, and the name or names of the persons killed and injured, with the extent and nature of the injuries sustained. When any personal injury of which notice is required to be sent under this section results in the death of the person injured, notice in writing shall be sent to the inspector within twenty-four hours after such death comes to the knowledge of the owner, agent or manager; and when loss of life occurs in any mine by explosion, or accident, or results from personal injury so received, the owner, agent or manager of such mine shall notify the coroner of the county in which such mine is situated, and the coroner shall hold an inquest upon the body of the person whose death has been caused, and inquire carefully into the cause thereof, and return a copy of the finding of the jury and all the testimony to the inspector.

SEC. 4941. The owner, lessee or agent in charge of any mine, any limestone quarry, or who is engaged in mining or producing any mineral whatsoever in this State, shall, on or before the thirtieth day of November in every year, send to the office of the inspector, upon blanks to be furnished by him, a correct return, specifying with respect to the year ending on the preceding first day of October the quantity of coal, iron ore, fire clay, limestone or other mineral product of such mine or quarry, and the number of persons ordinarily employed in or about such mine or quarry below and above ground, distinguishing the persons and labor below ground and above ground.

SEC. 4942. For any injury to person or property occasioned by any willful violation of this chapter, or any willful failure to comply with its provisions, by any owner, agent or manager of the mine, a right of action shall accrue to the party injured for any damage he may have sustained thereby; and in any case of loss of life by reason of such willful neglect or failure aforesaid, a right of action shall accrue to the personal representative of the deceased, as in other actions for wrongful death.

SEC. 4943. The Commissioner of Labor and Printing shall perform the duties of mine inspector as provided in this chapter.

SEC. 4944. It shall be the duty of the inspector to examine all the mines in the State as often as possible to see that all the provisions and requirements of this chapter are strictly observed and carried out; he shall particularly examine the works and machinery belonging to any mine, examine into the state and condition of the mines as to ventilation, circulation and condition of air, drainage and general security.

SEC. 4945. For the purpose of making the inspection and examinations provided for in this chapter, the inspector shall have the right to enter any mine at all reasonable times, by night or by day, but in such manner as shall not unnecessarily obstruct the working of the mine; and the owner or agent of such mine is hereby required to furnish the means necessary for such entry and inspection; the inspection and examination herein provided for shall extend to fire clay, iron ore and other mines, as well as coal mines.

SEC. 4946. Upon receiving notice of any death resulting from accident it shall be the duty of the inspector to go himself, or send a representative, at once to the mine in which said death occurred and inquire into the cause of the same, and to make a written report fully setting forth the condition of the part of the mine where such death occurred and the cause which led to the same; which report shall be filed by the inspector in his office as a matter of record and for future reference.

SEC. 4947. He shall make a record of all examinations of mines, showing the date when examination [was] made, the conditions in which the mines are found, the extent to which the laws relating to mines and mining are observed or violated, the progress made in the improvements and security of life and health sought to be secured by the provisions of this chapter, number of accidents, injuries received or deaths in or about the mines, the number of mines in the State, the number of persons employed in or about each mine, together with all such other facts and information of public interest concerning the condition of mines, development and progress of mining in the State as he may think useful and proper, which record shall be filed in the office of the inspector, and as much thereof as may be of public interest to be included in his annual report.

SEC. 4948. He shall keep in his office and carefully preserve all maps, surveys and other reports and papers required by law to be filed with him, and so arrange and preserve the same as shall make them a permanent record of ready, convenient and connected reference.

SEC. 4949. In case of any controversy or disagreement between the inspector and the owner or operator of any mine, or the persons working therein, or in case of conditions or emergencies requiring counsel, the inspector may call on the Governor for such assistance and counsel as may be necessary. Should the inspector find any of the provisions of this chapter violated or not complied with by any owner, lessee or agent in charge, unless the same is within a reasonable time rectified and the provisions of this chapter fully complied with, he shall institute an action in the name of the State to compel the compliance therewith. The inspector shall exercise a sound discretion in the enforcement of this chapter.

SEC. 4950. On application of the inspector, after suit brought as directed in the preceding section, any court of competent jurisdiction may enjoin or restrain the owner or agent from working or operating such mine until it is made to conform to the provisions of this chapter; and such remedy shall be cumulative, and shall not take the place of or affect any other proceedings against such owner or agent authorized by law for the matter complained of in such action.

SEC. 4951. The inspector shall annually make report to the Governor of all his proceedings, the condition and operation of the different mines of the State, and the number of mines and the number of persons employed in or about such mines, the amount of coal, iron ore, limestone, fire clay or other mineral mined in this State; and he shall enumerate all accidents in or about the mines, and the manner in which they occurred, and give all such other information as he thinks useful and proper, and make such suggestions as he deems important relative to mines and mining, and any legislation that may be necessary on the subject for the better preservation of the life and health of those engaged in such industry.

SEC. 4952. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to or affect any mine in which not more than ten men are employed at the same time; but the inspector shall at all times have free ingress to such mines for the purpose of examination and inspection, and shall direct and enforce any regulation in accordance with the provisions of this chapter that he may deem necessary for the safety of the health and lives of the miners employed therein.

RULINGS OF THE SUPREME COURT ON EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY.

A master owes to his servant the duty of using ordinary care to procure sound and safe appliances, if a proper inspection could have remedied the defect and prevented the injury.

Chasson v. Roper Lumber Company, 118 N. C., 59.

But when there is a safe and a dangerous method available for the performance of the work in hand, and the servant selects the latter method with actual knowledge of the fact that it is dangerous, he cannot recover.

Covington v. Furniture Company, 138 N. C., 374.

Slight defects in appliances causing injuries which cannot be reasonably anticipated do not render the owner of the machinery liable.

Carter v. Lumber Company, 126 N. C., 203.

In actionable negligence (as for defective machinery) there must be on the part of the defendant not only an act or omission constituting the proximate cause of the injury, but there must be also a want of ordinary care on his part.

Carter v. Lumber Company, supra.

In an action by an operative in a cotton mill for personal injuries caused from uncovered cog wheels, the plaintiff cannot recover unless she exercises that care which an ordinarily prudent person would or should have exercised.

Creech v. Cotton Mills, 135 N. C., 680.

It is the employer and not the employe who should be fixed with the knowledge of defective appliances and held liable for injuries resulting from their use. It is only where a machine is so grossly or clearly defective that the employe must know of the extra risk, that he can be deemed to have voluntarily and knowingly assumed the risk.

Simms v. Lindsey, 122 N. C., 678.

Negligence is a want of ordinary care, a failure to exercise that care which a man of ordinary prudence would have exercised under the circumstances. It is a failure to perform some duty imposed by the law. The law imposes upon the master the duty of using ordinary care to provide for the servant reasonably sound and safe appliances and machinery, and a reasonably safe place and methods to do his work; and on entering into employment the servant has the right to assume that these duties have been performed, and may, without blame, act upon this assumption until some defect becomes so apparent that it may be discovered by the exercise of ordinary care. The master is not required to furnish the best machinery and appliances, nor is he required to provide the safest place or methods, but such as are reasonably safe. The law also requires the servant to exercise ordinary care for his own safety. It is also a part of the contract of employment that the servant assumes the ordinary risk of his employment and also the risk incident to dangerous work or dangerous methods of work, if they are obvious.

Jones v. Warehouse Company, 137 N. C., 337.

Where an employe undertakes to do something which it is not his duty to do, he thereby assumes the risk, and cannot recover damages.

Hamrick v. Balfour Quarry Company, 132 N. C., 282.

*Equivalent bales of 400 pounds. †Excess of foreign exports over total imports.

Production.—The production statistics relate, when possible, to the year of growth, but when figures for the growth year are wanting, a commercial crop which represents the trade movement is taken. The statistics of production have been compiled from publications of the United States Department of Agriculture for 1790 to 1898. Census figures have, however, been used when available, including those for 1899 to 1908.

Value of lint.—The value of lint per pound shown since 1902 relates to the average grade of upland cotton marketed prior to April 1 of the following year; from 1890 to 1901, the average price of middling cotton on the New Orleans Cotton Exchange; and from 1790 to 1889, as published in reports of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Consumption.—Compiled from publications of the United States Department of Agriculture for 1790 to 1894; and from the reports of Latham, Alexander & Co., for 1895 to 1903. Census figures have been taken when available.

Domestic exports and net imports.—Compiled from American state papers for 1790 to 1819 and from "Commerce and Navigation of the United States," Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, for 1820 to 1908. The export year begins October 1 for 1790 to 1842, July 1 for 1843 to 1866, and September 1 for 1867 to 1908. The period for consumption, exports, and imports is designated by the year in which the record begins rather than that in which it ends.
